

GENERAL PURPOSE

The Yukon Historic Resources Fund (YHRF) is intended to support specific projects. It was established to help support the objectives of the Historic Resources Act related to historic resources. These are to: promote appreciation; provide protection, preservation and orderly development; and promote study and interpretation of these resources.

If a project is on settlement land, permission and/or permits from Yukon First Nations are required. Other permission/permits, such as Scientists and Explorers License and Yukon Archaeological Sites Regulations permit may also be required.

All interventions to historic places must respect the Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada. The Historic Sites Unit of Yukon Government is available to assist in complying with these standards and guidelines. The web address is as follows: www.historicplaces.ca/en/pages/standards-normes. Only proposed work that conforms to the Standards and Guidelines will be eligible for funding under this program.
